HOW OFTEN SHOULD I GO TO CONFESSION?

A question that people often ask me is, "Father, how often should I go to confession? There are many ideas about this because some people think that before going to communion they have to go to confession as if confession were a condition for going to communion.

Other people have told me that they do not feel the need to go to confession, because they do not steal, do not lie, do not kill, or if they have stolen, it has been "little", or yes, they have told a lie but a "white lie".

One of the five commandments of the Church asks us to go to confession at least once a year, or if we are in mortal sin and have to receive communion. In other words, if I am one of those who believe that I do not have mortal sin, I must go to confession at least once a year, but if I know that I have committed a mortal sin and I want to receive communion, then I must go to the sacrament of penance before receiving communion.

Therefore, it is true that the subject of confession is mortal sins, but the Church recommends confessing venial sins as well, since these types of sins, if we allow them to grow, can lead us to commit mortal sins later on. Moreover, as the Catechism of the Church points out, every sin is an offense against God that wounds the Church, which is why the spirit of conversion impels the Christian to seek God's forgiveness and reconciliation with the Church (n. 1440).

So, how often do we go to confession? It depends on the conscience of each person. However, without mortal sin, perhaps once a month is appropriate. Frequent confession is a good and healthy thing, avoiding extremes, neither so frequent that I lose sight of God's grace, nor so distant that I forget God's grace.

Fr. Juan José Díaz

¿Cada cuánto debo CONFESARME?

Una pregunta que luego me hacen las personas es Padre, ¿cada cuánto tiempo debo confesarme? Y es que hay muchas ideas alrededor de esto, pues algunos creen que antes de comulgar se tienen que confesar, como si la confesión fuera una condición para comulgar.

Otras personas por su parte, me han dicho que no sienten necesidad de confesarse, porque no roban, no mienten, no matan, o si han robado ha sido "poquito", o sí, han dicho alguna mentira, pero una "mentira piadosa".

Uno de los cinco mandamientos de la Iglesia, nos pide confesarnos al menos una vez al año, o si se está en pecado mortal y se ha de comulgar. O sea, que si yo soy de los que creen que no tengo pecado mortal debo acercarme a la confesión al menos una vez al año, pero si se que he cometido pecado mortal y quiero comulgar, entonces debo acercarme al sacramento de la penitencia antes de comulgar.

Por lo tanto, es cierto que la materia de la confesión son los pecados mortales, sin embargo, la Iglesia recomienda confesar también los pecados veniales, ya que este tipo de pecados, si los dejamos crecer pueden conducirnos a cometer después pecados mortales. Además, como señala el Catecismo de la Iglesia todo pecado es una ofensa a Dios que hiere a la Iglesia, por eso el espíritu de conversión impulsa al cristiano a buscar el perdón de Dios y la reconciliación con la Iglesia (n. 1440).

Entonces, ¿cada cuándo confesarse? Depende de la conciencia de cada uno. Sin embargo, sin pecado mortal, tal vez una vez al mes sea lo adecuado. La confesión frecuente es algo bueno y sano, evitando los extremos, ni a cada rato que me lleve a perder de vista la gracia de Dios, ni tan lejano que haga olvidarme de la gracia de Dios.

JUAN 12, 24-26

DEACON'S CORNER

Our readings today draw us closer to Jesus' passion and death which we will read on Palm Sunday and Good Friday. Our first reading describes the suffering and anguish Jesus experienced offering payers to his Father with loud cries and tears as the time of his painful and humiliating death approached.

In the Gospel, alluding to his crucifixion and death, Jesus says when I am lifted up I will draw all people to myself. "Lifted up" refers to his death on the cross. It fulfills a prophecy in the Book of Isaiah chapters fifty-two and fifty-three where Isaiah describes that the suffering messiah will be exalted and lifted up in the sight of the nations, will be cast down by his own people and suffer a humiliating death and a redemptive sacrifice for sin. His death will cast out Satan and draw all people to Himself.

Although the prospect of this terrible suffering troubles Jesus, He will not turn back from it. He says to be lifted up is exactly why He came. The Gospel shows that Jesus' suffering and death will glorify His Father's name.

We are called to follow Jesus' example of obedience to the Father. Jesus says that those who want to follow him, those who want to share in this new covenant of everlasting life must somehow follow him and endure trials and sufferings in this life. To be members of the covenant won by the sacrifice of Christ we must endure sacrifice in our own lives. What kind of sacrifice does Jesus expect of us? What crosses does he want us to bear? Jesus says, "Whoever hates his life in this world will preserve it for eternal life." Here hate means to turn away from. To inherit eternal life we must turn away from sin and from the things that distract us from focusing on God and doing his will. We must eliminate those things that lead us away from Him, that distract us from Him. Not only to turn away from sin but also to turn away from anything that gets in the way of following Him and deepening our relationship with Him. May it be so.

Deacon John

RINCON DEL DIACONO

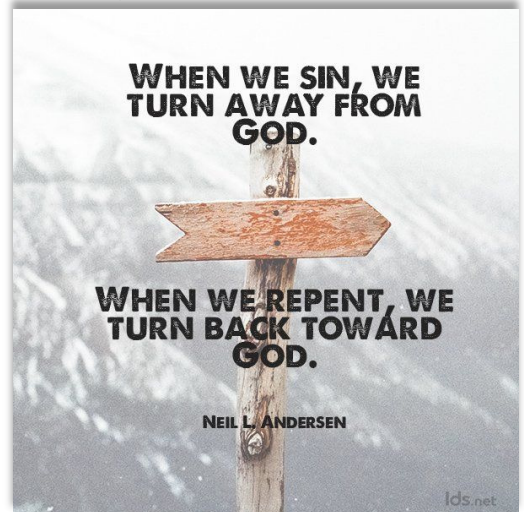

Nuestras lecturas de hoy nos acercan a la pasión y muerte de Jesús, que leeremos el Domingo de Ramos y el Viernes Santo. Nuestra primera lectura describe el sufrimiento y la angustia que experimentó Jesús al ofrecer oraciones a su Padre con fuertes gritos y lágrimas mientras se acercaba el momento de su dolorosa y humillante muerte.

En el Evangelio, aludiendo a su crucifixión y muerte, Jesús dice que cuando yo sea levantado atraeré a todos hacia mí. "Levantado" se refiere a su muerte en la cruz. Cumple una profecía en el Libro de Isaías capítulo cincuenta y dos y cincuenta y tres donde Isaías describe que el Mesías sufriente será exaltado y levantado ante los ojos de las naciones, será abatido por su propio pueblo y sufrirá una muerte humillante y un sacrificio redentor por el pecado. Su muerte expulsará a Satanás y atraerá a todos hacia él.

Aunque la perspectiva de este terrible sufrimiento preocupa a Jesús, Él no se apartará de él. Dice que para ser levantado es exactamente por lo que vino. El Evangelio muestra que el sufrimiento y la muerte de Jesús glorificarán el nombre de Su Padre.

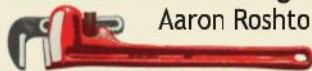

Estamos llamados a seguir el ejemplo de obediencia al Padre de Jesús. Jesús dice que aquellos que quieran seguirlo, aquellos que quieran participar en este nuevo pacto de vida eterna deben de alguna manera seguirlo y soportar pruebas y sufrimientos en esta vida. Para ser miembros del pacto ganado por el sacrificio de Cristo debemos perseverar en sacrificio en nuestras propias vidas. ¿Qué tipo de sacrificio espera Jesús de nosotros? ¿Qué cruces quiere que carguemos nosotros? Jesús dice: "El que aborrece su vida en este mundo, persevera en la vida eterna.". Aquí el odio significa alejarse de él. Para heredar la vida eterna debemos alejarnos del pecado y de las cosas que nos distraen de concentrarnos en Dios y haciendo su voluntad. Debemos eliminar aquellas cosas que nos alejan de Él, que nos distraen de él. No sólo alejarnos del pecado, sino también alejarnos de cualquier cosa que se interponga en nuestro camino para seguirlo y profundizar nuestra relación con Él. Que así sea.
